THE Editor's Column

It is my great honour and privilege to present our e-newsletter on the first day of Devi Pakshya (MAHALAYA), 14th October 2023. The year of 2023 has been an year to remember and cherish. This e-newsletter portrays the achievements and activities of our society and its members without whom nothing is possible.

But another prodigious achievement happened on 28th August 2023, which cannot be depicted in pictures but can only be scripted in words. On this red letter day we received the online International Standard Serial Number (ISSN) for our e-journal "The Journal Of Orofacial Rehabilitation (JOR)" as 2583-9322 (online). The process of achieving an e-ISSN began way back in 2021. This was a very tough journey where we stumbled twice and fell apart once, but on our fourth attempt we finally achieved our first landmark on the journey in the making of an indexed journal. The road to success was never easy. After making a state of the art dedicated webpage we faced the task to make all our articles digitally identifiable by a Digital Object Identifier (doi). Next was to have an authentic anti-plagiarism software to make all our publications acceptable. And lastly having institutional email-ids for all editorial board members. For this achievement I would like to thank two people who have guided me throughout this process. I thank from the bottom of my heart Dr. Anand Kumar sir, Editor of Journal of Indian Prosthodontic Society and Dr. Fatima Banu R, Technical editor of Journal of Clinical Prosthodontics and Implantology. I also thank all the members of our editorial board who supported our cause unconditionally. I thank all the authors who kept faith on us that someday we will achieve this feat. I owe my gratitude to Dr. Udey Vir Gandhi sir and Dr. Dolanchanpa Dasgupta ma'am for encouraging me in this journey of patience and persistence.

I conclude by saying, "The journey of JOR has just began."

ACADEMIC EXCELLENCE AWARD

University GOLD MEDALIST 2021-22

It's my pleasure to get the chance to write down and share my experience in this platform. If I start from the beginning, I was never demotivated with the stream of dentistry. I always love to do artistic works, so found the exact field for me. And it was my aim to achieve the highest in the same, so perused for MDS, By choice selected the branch Prosthodontics. From my experience, I want to say that the target is not to pass the exam and get the degree, we should know the subject completely and learn the practical implications from the very first day. There should always be a question in your mind "why?" "If your full concentration is on enhancing the knowledge and following the guidance of your teaches, for thesis and clinics as well, no doubt you are going achieve your degree with respect. Another key of success is to go through the standard books thoroughly from the first page to the last. So love the subject and don't forget to read at least one topic a day.

Learning is a continuous process. Every single day is a scope for being a better version of yourself. What I have experienced is to chart the subject with an open mind. To believe in the beauty of the subject. It is very rewarding. To be accepting to change (going digital) yet understanding the roots and basics (time tested conventional methods). Finally, there is always something valuable to be gained from teachers, seniors, batchmates and even juniors. With a humble, optimistic and hardworking attitude, everything will shape you up to be a great prosthodontist.

As I embarked on my journey of Prosthetic Dentistry, I was overwhelmed when our presentation won the award for best poster at the IPSWB's 2nd annual conference. Success is never a one man story, it has several behind the scene characters who would be elated just by seeing us basking in the glory of aftermaths of a battle. I was anxious about giving my first-ever state-level presentation alongside Dr. Prachi Mundhara, but with the support of our HOD, mentors, and other professors, we nailed down the venture. I am highly obliged for their support and also to IPSWB for creating such a wonderful platform.
